

2008 Educators In-Service on AD/HD and Co-Occurring Neurobiological Disorders

Teachers will gain tools and practical application techniques to successfully help children with AD/HD and co-occurring disorders. Achieving classroom goals while meeting the needs of all students will promote a harmonious and positive learning environment.

Project Goals and Objectives

1. Provide an overview of the science behind ADHD (and co-occurring neurobiological disorders) and implications for teachers
2. Identification of academic issues and effective intervention strategies
3. Review effective behavioral, social and emotional strategies for this population
4. Problem solving communication: parent & teacher partnerships

This is THE training for educators, developed by educators.
